

BIO – Brigitte BOCOUM
African Development Bank

Dr. Brigitte Bocoum is an engineer and mineral economist currently with the African Development Bank. She is a prolific and insightful writer as evidenced by innumerable publications in respected and learned journals. She is a true advocate of partnerships collaboration as a means to build synergies to promote sustainable development in Africa through the natural resources sector. She passionately advocates for this cause in international fora and also through the African Industrial Minerals Network (AIMnet).